The service provided under these terms and conditions is the transport component of wireline broadband Internet access transmission service, as defined in the Federal Communications Commission’s Report and Order in CC Docket Nos. 02-33 and 01-337 released September 23, 2005, FCC 05-150 (“Broadband Internet Order”). These terms and conditions are intended to comply with the requirements for permissive detariffing of the transmission component of wireline broadband internet access service as set forth in the Broadband Internet Order.

1.2 Limitations of Service

Service is offered subject to availability of the necessary facilities and/or equipment and subject to the provisions of these terms and conditions. The Company reserves the right not to provide service where the necessary facilities or equipment are not available.

The Company reserves the right to discontinue or suspend furnishing service, without written notice, when necessitated by conditions beyond its control, when the customer is using the service in violation of the provisions of these terms and conditions or in violation of the law, or the network is or could be placed in peril by the customer’s use.

Title to all facilities provided by the Company under these terms and conditions remains with the Company.

1.3 Basic Terms and Conditions of Service

Service is offered on a monthly basis. For purposes of computing charges, a month is considered to have 30 days. The minimum period for which service is provided to the customer and for which charges are applicable is one month.

Bills will be payable upon receipt. Interest at the rate of 1.5% per month (unless a lower rate is prescribed by law, in which event at the highest rate allowed by law) may be applied in accordance with Company’s standard credit policy to any unpaid amount commencing 30 days after the statement date.

The Company may require the customer to submit a formal credit application. Applicant for service or customer whose financial condition is not acceptable to the Company or is not known to the Company may be required at any time to make a deposit up to an amount equaling the installation charges, if applicable, and/or up to three (3) months actual or estimated charges for the services to be provided. The Company may also require customer to provide other assurances of payment through the use of credit cards, bank accounts, debits or similar means. In the case of a cash deposit, interest at the rate paid in that locality for escrow accounts, not to exceed 6% simple interest, will be paid for the period which the deposit is held by the Company. At the Company’s option, such deposit may be refunded or credited to the customer at any time prior to termination of service.

For purposes of billing, the start of service is the same day of acceptance by the customer of the Company’s service. The end of service is the last day after receipt by the Company of notification of discontinuance.

The Company, at its option, may terminate service for nonpayment after written notice has been provided to the customer for delinquency.

When payment for service is made by check, draft or other negotiable instrument, a reasonable handling charge of $50.00 will be assessed for each time such item is returned unpaid to the Company for any reason except to the extent limited by law.

1.5 Liability

The entire liability of the Company for all claims of whatever nature arising out of the Company's provision of the services and not caused by the customer's negligence, shall not exceed an amount equal to the proportionate fixed monthly charges to the customer for the period of service during which any mistake, omission, interruption, delay, error or defection in the services of the Company's equipment or any other event of action giving rise to a claim occurs. The Company's liability for its willful misconduct, if any, is not limited by these terms and conditions. In no event shall the Company be liable for special, punitive, consequential or incidental damages. The Company disclaims any express or implied warranties with respect to the services of Company equipment, including without limitation, any implied warranties or merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose.

The Company is not liable for any act of omission of any other Company or companies furnishing a portion of the service.

No agent or employees of other companies shall be deemed to be agents or employees of the Company.

1.6 Interruption of Service

Credit allowance for interruptions of service which are not due to the Company's testing or adjusting, or due to negligence of the customer, or to the failure of channels, equipment and/or communications systems provided by the customer, are subject to the general liability provisions set forth herein. It shall be the obligation of the customer to notify the Company of any interruption in service. 1.7 Discontinuance by Company

The Company, by written notice to the customer, may immediately discontinue service or cancel an application for service without incurring any liability for any of the following reasons:

If, based on such an order, any construction has either begun or been completed, and no service provided, the nonrecoverable cost of such construction shall be borne by the customer.

1.9 Inspection, Testing and Adjustment

Company may, upon reasonable notice, make such tests and inspections as may be necessary to determine whether the requirements of these terms and conditions are being complied with in the installation, operation or maintenance of the customer's or the Company's equipment. The Company may interrupt the service at any time, without penalty to itself, because of departure from any of these requirements except as provided below.

Upon reasonable notice, the facilities provided by the Company shall be made available to the Company for such tests and adjustments as may be necessary to maintain them in satisfactory condition. No interruption allowance will be granted from the time during which such tests and adjustments are made.

1.10 Change of Service Arrangement

When a change in service arrangement involves the continued use by the customer of circuits furnished by the Company, installation charges do not apply to the circuits continued in use. The minimum service period for the circuits continued in use is determined from the date of the initial installation.

1.11 Taxes and Surcharges

Customer will be billed for and is liable for payment of all applicable federal, state and local taxes, surcharges, utility, other assessments, taxes or fees including such amounts as the Company may be authorized to pass through to the customer.

The amount of charge that is prorated to each customer's bill is determined by the services provided to and billed to a customer service location in such a taxing jurisdiction with the aggregate of such charges equal to the amount of the tax or fee imposed upon the Company.

1.12 Credit Regulations

Pursuant to limitations set forth in Section 1 preceding, the following will apply:

Interruption of Service

No credit will be allowed for relinquishing facilities in order to perform routine maintenance.

Credit for failure of service or equipment will be allowed only when such failure is caused by or occurs in facilities or equipment provided by the Company. No credit will be allowed for:

- (A) Failure of service or equipment due to customer or authorized user-provided facilities.
- (B) Failure of service or equipment due to negligence of willful act of the customer or his authorized user.
- (C) Unauthorized use by agents, employees, or representatives of the customer. Credit allowance for failure of service or equipment starts when the customer notifies the Company of the failure or when the Company becomes aware of the failure, and ceases when service has been restored and/or the equipment becomes operational.

The customer shall notify the Company of failures of service or equipment and make reasonable attempts to ascertain that the failure is not caused by the customer-provided facilities.

Credit will be allowed only for the disabled portions of the service or equipment.

The Company, at its option, may deny a customer request for credit in accordance with Company's standard credit policy against charges incurred of service provided by another Company where notification of alleged inferior or inadequate service has not been received by Company's Customer Service Department within 24 hours of the occurrence. No credit will be allowed absent such notification.

For purposes of credit computations, every month shall be considered to have 720 hours.

No credit shall be allowed for an interruption of less than 24 hours.

The customer shall be credited for an interruption of 24 hours or more at the rate of 1/30th of the monthly recurring charge for the facilities affected for each period of 24 hours or major fraction thereof.

Cancellation Credit

Where the Company cancels a service or the provision of equipment and the final service period is less than the monthly billing period, a credit will be issued for any amounts billed in advance, prorated by 1/30th of the monthly recurring charge equipment was provided. 2.1 Digital Subscriber Line Access Services

Digital Subscriber Line (DSL) Access Services provide transmission services over local exchange service facilities that can be used for simultaneous voice and data communications. Service is provided, where available, between the customer's End User designated premises and designated Company Serving Wire Center. The customer purchases DSL Access Service, as described following, for the purpose of combining these services with its own information service(s) to create a new retail service for sale to its end user customers.

2.2 Digital Subscriber Line Access Service Offerings - General

The Company will offer Asymmetric Digital Subscriber Line (ADSL) Access Service, and may also offer Symmetric Digital Subscriber Line (SDSL) Access Service, based on the Company's determination. The Company reserves the right to determine which of these services it will make available for wholesale purchase. This service guide will refer to ADSL and SDSL collectively as DSL, unless a distinction is implied.

DSL enables data traffic generated by a customer-provided modem to be transported to a DSL Access Connection Point using the Company's local exchange service facilities. A DSL Access Service Connection Point is an interconnection point designated by the Company that aggregates data traffic from and to Company DSL equipped Serving Wire Centers (SWCs). The DSL Access Service Connection Point may be located within the operating territory of the Company or in the operating territory of another Company provided both companies agree on such an arrangement.

When both the DSL-equipped SWC and its associated DSL Access Service Connection Point are located within the Company's operating territory, the customer's DSL Access Service must be connected to a single Internet Service Provider (ISP) using the Company's Special Access, or Ethernet Transport service provided under the Company's Access Service Tariff.

When both the DSL-equipped SWC from which the Company provides DSL service is located within the Company's operating territory and its associated DSL Access Service Connection Point is located in the operating territory of another Company, the customer's DSL Access Service must be connected to a single Internet Service Provider (ISP) using the Special Access, or Ethernet Transport service offered by the other Company.

DSL Access Service is available as two service options: DSL Voice-Data and DSL Data-Only.

- (A) The DSL Voice-Data offering provides transmission of data signals at peak data transmission speeds using the Company's existing local exchange service line for simultaneous voice and data communications.
- (B) The DSL-Data-Only offering provides transmission of data signals at peak data transmission speeds using the Company's existing local exchange service line and does not provide the ability to transmit voice communications.

2.2 Digital Subscriber Line Access Service (Cont'd)

The Company does not provide customer premises equipment (CPE) in conjunction with the DSL Access Service offering.

DSL Access Service may not be used in conjunction with multi-point Special Access Service configurations.

DSL Access Service will be furnished where suitable facilities exist as determined by the Company.

DSL Access Service will be provided over Company local exchange service facilities. When the customer orders the DSL Voice-Data option, the rates and regulations for DSL Access Service are in addition to any rates and regulations that apply for the associated local exchange service line provided under the terms and conditions in the Company's general and/or local exchange service tariffs. The Company will automatically disconnect the DSL Access Service Voice-Data option when the associated local exchange service line is disconnected for any reason.

Rates and regulations for Special Access Services, and Ethernet Transport Access Service, provided under the Company's access tariff, will apply for the access service(s) provided between the ISP's customer designated premises and the DSL Access Service Connection Point.

Undertaking of the Company

The Company will provide DSL Access Service at rates and charges mutually agreed to by the ISP and the Company, as follows:

- (A) The Company will determine if the associated local exchange service line or facility is suitable for use with the DSL Access Service option ordered by the customer. Service will not be provided on lines or facilities that the Company determines are not suitable for DSL Access Service or on lines or facilities that produce interference with other services provided by the Company.
- (B) The Company, after determining if the facilities are suitable for DSL Access Service, will notify the customer if the customer's CPE is compatible with the equipment deployed in the Company's SWC and, if any additional CPE is necessary to support DSL Access Service.
- (C) The Company will provision and maintain DSL Access Service from the DSL Access Service Connection Point to the Point of Termination at the DSL Access Service customer's End User customer premises.

Obligations of the Customer

In addition to the regulation described in other section of these terms and conditions, the following provisions apply to DSL Access Service:

- (A) The customer is responsible for providing the Company with the necessary information to provision DSL Access Service (e.g., customer name, telephone number and premises address; billing name and address when different from the customer name and premises address; its Internet Protocol (IP) address; and the contact name and telephone number of the ISP with which the customer's DSL Access Service will interconnect).
- (B) The customer is responsible for providing and maintaining all required CPE, which is compatible with the DSL Access Service.

Obligations of the Customer (Cont'd)

- (C) The customer will deal directly with its end user customers with respect to all matters pertaining to the service provided, including marketing, sales, ordering, installation, maintenance, trouble reporting, repair, billing and collections. The customer will not direct its end users to contact the Company for any aspects of the service the customer provides.
- (D) The customer will submit orders for DSL Access Service to the Company in a format and manner designated by the Company.
- (E) The customer will obtain the appropriate authorization to allow the Company to provision DSL Voice-Data Access Service over the customer's end user's existing telephone exchange service line.

Rate Regulations

This section contains the regulations governing the rate and charges that apply for DSL Access Service. Regulations governing the rates and charges for Special Access Services, and Ethernet Transport Access Service, used in conjunction with DSL Access Service, are as specified in the Company's Access Service Tariffs.

(A) Minimum Period

The minimum period for which DSL Access Service is provided to a customer and for which charges are applicable is one month.

(B) Moves

A move involves a change in the physical location of the Point of Termination at the DSL Access Service End User customer's designated premises or of the DSL Access Service End User customer designated premises. When the move is to a new location within the same building, the charge for the move will be an amount equal to one half of the nonrecurring (i.e., installation) charge for the service affected. Moves to a different building will be treated as a discontinuance and start of service and all associated nonrecurring charges will apply.

(C) Temporary Suspension of Service

When the associated local exchange service line over which the DSL Voice-Data option is provided is temporarily suspended, the DSL Voice-Data Access Service and one-half of the DSL Voice-Data Line Charge monthly rate will be temporarily suspended for the time period that the associated local exchange service is suspended.

(D) Changes to Existing Service

All changes to existing DSL Access Service (e.g., a change of ISP and restoration of the DSL Access Service following disconnect for non-payment of charges and/or a disconnect of the associated local exchange service line for any reason), other than changes involving DSL option conversions, DSL network reconfigurations and administrative activities, as described below, will be treated as a discontinuance of the existing service and an installation of a new service. A nonrecurring installation charge will apply per DSL Access Service line for this work activity.
