

Communications and Video Accessibility Act

December 19, 2018

The Twenty-First Century Communications and Video Accessibility Act (CVAA) became law in 2010. The CVAA updates federal communications law to increase the access of persons with disabilities to modern communications. The CVAA ensures that accessibility laws enacted in the 1980s and 1990s are updated for 21st century technologies, including new digital, broadband, and mobile innovations.

Lakeland Communications complies with the CVAA and the required accessibility features for individuals who are blind or visually impaired. Lakeland offers TiVo service for closed captioning along with voice guide. Lakeland's EAS is voice enabled.
